TO MAKE FIGHT

Against McCreary In The State Convention.

Opponents Will Try To Humiliate Senator.

Even Talk Of Bolt If He Is Elected Delegate.

MEANS NEW SPLIT WITHIN PARTY.

Plans are being laid by certain factions in the Democratic party to make a fight on Senator James B. McCreary in the next State Convention and prevent him from being sent to the national convention in Denver as a delegate from Kentucky. It is even said that there will be a fight on him in his own county, and that his opponents will try to prevent him being sent to the State Convention as a delegate from Madison county.

W. M. Thompson, who is generally known as "Windy Bill" was in Frankfort Thursday in the interest of the slate which has been chosen by a large number of Democrats of Bullitt and Spencer and adjoining counties. Mr. Thompson proposes to send to the national convention as delegates from the State at large former Governor J. C. W. Beckham, Senator McCreary, Congressman Ben Johnson and Congressman Ollie M. James. Mr. Thompson thinks that this combination represents all factions and would be generally acceptable and doing a great deal to heal the sores in the party.

But Mr. Thompson will find when he gets to the State convention, wherever it may be held, that he will have opposition to his programme. A fight is to be made on Senator McCreary and everything possible that can humiliate him will be done. In the first place the plan is to beat him as a delegate from Madison county to the State convention. A prominent Democrat from that county said the other day that he would fight any effort to send Senator McCreary to the State convention, and he said he had a strong following who were of that mind. It is believed, however, that if Senator McCreary wants anything in Madison county he will get it, and the men who are fighting him will find themselves up against the people, who will not submit to Senator McCreary being turned down in his home county.

One of the men who managed the campaign of J. C. W. Beckham when the latter was a candidate for Senator, said yesterday that if he was a delegate to the State convention and there even was talk of sending Senator McCreary to the national convention, he would bolt and his delegation, from his county, would follow him. He said he did not intend going to the convention as a delegate, but he believed Senator McCreary would not be allowed to take any part in the convention.

This is the opinion of one man but it shows what the feeling is in the certain circles, and shows that there will be a fight on Senator McCreary. Mr. Beckham is taking no part in the fight, it is said by his friends, but one of his close personal supporters said yesterday:

"I believe I can say for Mr. Beckham that he would not go to the national convention as a delegate if Senator McCreary is sent on Kentucky's delegation."

The proposition to send both Mr. Beckham and Senator McCreary as delegates to the convention with a delegates to the convention was made with a view to healing all the wounds in the ranks of the party by trying it so that a close fight would be presented to the people. This plan is met with approval in the convention and they expect Senator McCreary or try to prevent him in any way then there is a lively time in that convention, for Senator McCreary has too many friends and admirers in this State for them to lay down and let him be walked on or mistreated in any way.

The call for a meeting of the Democratic committee, to fix the time and place for holding the next State convention, has not been issued by Lewis McQuown, chairman of the committee but it is expected that the call will be issued in a short time. The probabilities are that the convention will be held the latter part of June, just before the national convention.

Col. Noel Gaines

Will Push Suits.

SAYS HE IS ONLY SEEKING VINDICATION AND DOES NOT CARE FOR MONEY.

Seeking vindication, Col. Noel Gaines, whose judgment against the Kentucky State Journal was reversed by the Court of Appeals, on Wednesday, will fight in the courts and another trial of the libel suit will be had at Lawrenceburg. Col. Gaines says that he is not seeking money, and that his only purpose in pushing the case against the Journal, and against the other defendants, who were also sued, Percy Haly and the Postal Telegraph Co., is to secure vindication. As an evidence that he is not seeking money, Col. Gaines says he would have dropped the cases against the Postal and Mr. Haly, had the verdict against the Journal been sustained. Now that it has been reversed and a new trial ordered, he says there is nothing left for him to do but push the cases against all three defendants.

W. P. Walton, the editor of the Journal, Col. Gaines says, wrote a complete retraction of the alleged libel, and in the presence of the Rev. J. O. A. Vaught, agreed to publish it. Col. Gaines said he had agreed to drop the case against the Journal, if this was published, but it was not done, for some reason. He says that even now, if a retraction is printed, he is willing to drop the cases but otherwise he must push them as he owes something to his family.

Accepts Resignation

Of J. Paul Swain.

FATE OF Y. M. C. A. BRANCH HERE STILL HANGS IN THE BALANCE.

J. Paul Swain's resignation as secretary of the Y. M. C. A. here was accepted at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. held here Thursday afternoon and Mr. Swain will leave Frankfort to enter the milling business. The future of the branch of the Y. M. C. A. here is unsettled yet, but it is believed that with the aid of the ministers of the city and the co-operation of the business men of Frankfort the branch can be kept open.

At a meeting of the ministers and directors of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon it was decided to conduct a dollar campaign, the women of the city to help, and in that way raise enough money to pay off the debt of the local branch. A supper will be given also and several other plans for raising money may be tried. It is hoped that the debts can be paid in a short time and then the branch can be kept open here.

CAMPBELL CANTRILL DECLARES CONGRESSIONAL RACE IS ALL OVER NOW.

J. Campbell Cantrill, who says he will be the Democratic nominee for Congress in this district, was in Frankfort county court day looking over his ropes. He did not make a speech but was mixing with the crowd, and he says he has things his own way. Mr. Cantrill says the "machine" tried to run over him and had things framed up against him but he does not believe that they can succeed in doing anything against him, and he is confident that he will be nominated. Mr. Cantrill would have preferred a primary election, believing that he stood a better chance before the people directly instead of at a convention, where there might be juggling of votes and exchange of strength on various propositions. Now that he has to go into a convention he expects to be nominated on the first ballot.

Senator Cantrill said the plan of his opponents was to bring out candidates in nearly every county in this district, have the home county of each man instructed for him and then juggle the delegates after they had gathered at the convention. He declares that this scheme was a failure as the people would not stand for it and is now keeping his eyes peeled for the next plan which they may evolve. It is several months yet before the conventions will be held in the various counties in the district and many things may happen in that time.

Convict Will Go Home

To Meet His Death.

ADE WILLIS, PAROLED BY PRISON COMMISSION, IS DYING OF CONSUMPTION.

Ade Willis will leave the Frankfort penitentiary within the next few days, so that he can die in his home instead of within the walls of the prison, where he has been confined for the last four years. Willis is dying of consumption. He was sent to the penitentiary from Adair county on a charge of murder, for life. He has served four years and the prison physician says that he cannot live but a few months longer. The Board of Prison Commissioners granted Willis a parole yesterday.

LECTURE BY DR. T. F. BLAYNEY.

Dr. Thomas Lindsey Blayney, of Central University, will lecture on "The Development of Art Through the Ages," at the Episcopal Chapel, on May 21st, at 8 p. m., under the auspices of the Woman's Club. Dr. Blayney is a delightful speaker.

W. H. Cox Will Be In

The Executive Chair.

EXPECTS TO ASSUME DUTIES OF GOVERNOR TODAY—GOV. WILLSON GONE.

Lieut. Gov. Cox did not reach Frankfort yesterday but will be here today to take up the cares of State during the absence of the Governor who is in Washington. Gov. Cox will be here about a week.

Gov. Willson expects the conference at Washington to be a very important one, and it was for this reason that he abandoned his intention of passing on the Powers and Howard cases before he went. He thought it was important that he should attend this conference, which was called by the President. Affairs of great importance to the people of all States are to be discussed and the results may be far reaching.

Pocket-book Stolen

In Lexington Hotel.

MRS. RALPH WILSON HAS UNPLEASANT EXPERIENCE WHILE ON TRIP HOME.

Mrs. Ralph R. Wilson, of this city, had an unpleasant experience in Lexington this week, her pocket-book being stolen, leaving her without money even to buy a ticket home. Mrs. Wilson had been to Cincinnati where her son, Thomas, was operated on. She returned to Frankfort, by way of Lexington and stopped over there at the Phoenix hotel. She laid her pocket-book down in the ladies waiting room in the hotel and did not leave the room for some time. When she was ready to leave she found that her pocket-book was gone. It contained $15 in cash, some keys and valuable papers. She notified the local authorities, but nothing was found out that would give a clue to the thief. Mrs. Wilson borrowed enough money from a friend of her husband to reach Frankfort.

Orders New Depot

At Mt. Sterling.

Mt. Sterling is to have a new depot and the citizens of that town will rejoice when they hear the news. The Railroad Commission yesterday entered an order against the C. & O. railroad requiring that road to build a new depot at Mt. Sterling within ninety days. The present depot is condemned and must be removed within the ninety days allowed by the commission. As soon as the old building is torn away work on the new one will begin and it is understood that the road has agreed to erect a modern building that will comport with the importance of Mt. Sterling as a shipping point.

DROPS DEAD.

Harry Tandy Passes Away At Dawson Springs.

One Of Best Known Young Men In Kentucky.

Took a Prominent Part In Democratic Politics.

WILL BE BURIED IN PADUCAH.

Harry G. Tandy, one of the best known young men in Kentucky, dropped dead in his private bath room in the hotel at Dawson Springs, at 11:15 o'clock Thursday night. He had been ill for more than a year and his sudden death was expected at almost any time. It was known that his heart was in a bad condition. The physicians had warned Mrs. Tandy that he might die at any time and would go suddenly. His death was a great shock in spite of the fact that just such an end was to have been expected in view of the condition of his heart.

Telegrams were received here yesterday morning announcing the death of Mr. Tandy, and the news quickly spread over the city, where Mr. Tandy had a large number of friends. Mrs. William Grayot was notified simply that Mr. Tandy was dead, but the News got into telephone communication with Dawson Springs and learned some of the details of his death.

Mr. Tandy had been at Dawson for several weeks and was doing well. His condition being such that hope was entertained that he might recover his health again. He went to bed Thursday night, feeling as well as usual. About 11 o'clock he got out of bed, being unable to sleep, and went into the bath room. He was standing in that room when he suddenly toppled over and fell to the floor, being dead before any one, except Mrs. Tandy, could reach him.

The body was taken to Paducah, to the home of Mrs. E. P. Noble, yesterday afternoon, and the funeral probably will be held in Paducah this afternoon, although the date may be changed after communication can be had with Mr. Tandy's father. The burial will be in Paducah.

Mr. Tandy was perhaps the best known of the younger Democratic politicians in Kentucky. He was born in Christian county on June 22, thirty-eight years ago. He moved to Paducah when he was a young man and began the printing business. He was connected with several newspapers in Paducah in various capacities and finally entered politics. His manner was always pleasing and he made friends quickly, so that he soon began to have considerable influence in McCracken county. When the Democrats took the offices in 1900, after the killing of William Goebel, Mr. Tandy was made Assistant Secretary of State, under Breck Hill, and held that place for three years. Under the next administration he was appointed chief clerk to J. H. Fuqua, then Superintendent of Public Instruction. He filled both offices with credit and took an active part in the State politics. He was to have been assistant to John Chenault, had the latter been elected Clerk of the Court of Appeals, for which position he was the Democratic candidate.

Mr. Tandy was taken ill a little over a year ago and became so ill that for months it was thought that he would die at any minute. He gradually grew better, but his heart was affected and he never was well after the first attack of dropsy. His old associates missed him greatly and welcomed his return to Frankfort, last winter, with delight. They saw him looking well and thought that he was going to be

WITHOUT NOTICE

Judge Ira Julian Superseded As L. & N. Attorney.

Beckham And McQuown Appointed Yesterday.

Twenty Years Service For Road Disregarded.

FRANKFORT PEOPLE ALL SURPRISED.

Judge Ira Julian, who for the last twenty years has been the local attorney for the L. & N. railroad, was notified yesterday that McQuown & Beckham had been offered and had accepted the local attorneyship of that road. This was the first intimation that Judge Julian had that he had been removed as attorney or that any change was contemplated. Nothing was said to him about any change and neither Lewis McQuown nor J. C. W. Beckham, who compose the new firm, formed after the recent Senatorial race before the Legislature, had ever mentioned to him the matter of a change in the attorneyship.

Mr. Beckham and Mr. McQuown have accepted the place as attorney and the firm will represent the L. & N. here in the future. Judge Julian is one of the ablest lawyers in the State and cannot understand why he was removed. He said yesterday when asked about the change:

"I was notified this morning, very unexpectedly, that McQuown and Beckham would be the local attorneys in the future. I cannot understand why I was removed. I have served the company here for the last twenty years, and, during that time, have given the company my best talent and have never heard any objection to the way I conducted their cases. In fact, they have even gone so far as to compliment me on my work. Why I should be displaced without any notification and without the change ever having been mentioned to me, I cannot understand. Neither Mr. Beckham nor Mr. McQuown ever said anything to me about it, and the first suggestion I had of any change was this morning when I received a letter from the company telling me of the new firm's employment."

McQuown and Beckham have been practicing together since the latter was beaten for United States Senator. Their partnership has been of advantage to both and they have already entered upon a good practice here. In connection with Mr. Beckham's employment by the L. & N. railroad it is recalled that in 1899, when he was a candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, the whole campaign was waged on the issue of the L. & N. railroad and its effort to control politics in Kentucky.

Capt. David Stone

Loses Little Son.

Word has been received here from Greenville, Miss., of the death of William Hunt Stone, the four-year-old son of Capt. David Stone, of the United States Army. The little fellow had been ill for some time with diphtheria.

Capt. David Stone, the father, is well known in Frankfort, where he spent a great deal of his time in former years. Capt. Stone is a nephew of Mrs. Russell Rodman, of Frankfort.

The women's Club will meet on Monday, May 11, at 3:30 p. m., with Mrs. C. R. Hudson, at the residence of Miss Lucy Ware.

The subject for discussion will be "The Principal Events in the Reign of Louis the Fourteenth."

DEATH BLOW

Delivered To Ed. Callahan
By Brother-in-law.

Breathitt County Leader
Stabbed by Spicer.

Slayer Shot Down By The Dead Man's Son.

WAR BEGINS IN MOUNTAINS AGAIN.

Ed Callahan, the chief lieutenant of Judge James Hargis in the Breathitt feudal wars is lying mortally wounded at his home, twenty miles from Jackson, by a ghastly knife thrust which ripped through the big arteries and almost severed his right arm from his body.

Like the fate which overtook his colleague, Judge Hargis, Callahan meets a bloody end at the hands of a member of his own family, John Spicer, a brother of Callahan's erring wife, wielding the bloody knife which will send Callahan to his grave.

Before Spicer could quite complete his deadly work, a shot from Callahan's 17-year-old son, Willson, avenged his father and laid his uncle lifeless in the same pool of blood in which his victim lay weltering.

A strange fact in connection with the tragedy is that five years ago today James B. Marcum was shot to death in the courthouse door at Jackson by Curtis Jett, and Jett, in his confession, said that Ed Callahan gave him the pistol with which he murdered Marcum and told him to go on and do the deed.

Fight in Callahan's Store.

The tragedy occurred in Callahan's store, on Long Creek, near Crockettville, twenty miles from Jackson. Callahan and Spicer were partners in a country grocery, about half a mile from Callahan's main store, and had several times had business disagreements. Several months ago they had a quarrel and Callahan proceeded to give his partner and brother-in-law a sound drubbing. When he was released, Spicer started away, declaring he was going after his pistol, when Callahan drew his revolver and, swearing he would kill him, held his antagonist prisoner until he promised he would not renew hostilities.

Recently conditions at Spicer's store had not been satisfactory to Callahan and about noon he sent his son, Willson, to tell Spicer to come at once over to Callahan's store to settle up. Spicer responded in person, and on his arrival went into a review of their partnership business, which became a hot discussion, in which Callahan violently abused Spicer for his shortcomings.

The men were standing facing each other, when suddenly Spicer, so quickly, that Callahan did not have time to get a weapon, or retreat, whipped out a large keen-bladed clasp knife, such as the mountaineers usually carry, and sprang at his enemy. Callahan was taken by surprise, but threw up his arm in an instinctive movement of defense, but the heavy blade, slicing through cloth, flesh and sinews like a razor, sank to the bone of the arm, severing the large arteries which feed the limb and almost hacking the arm from the body.

Son Shoots Spicer.

Callahan reeled backward and Spicer, closing with him, tried to repeat the blow, but before his upraised arm could descend the second time Willson Callahan seized his father's pistol from a drawer in the counter of the store and fired one shot, which crashed through the brain of Spicer, and the latter and Callahan, whom he still clutched, fell together in the flood of blood which gushed from Callahan's arm.

Spicer was killed instantly and it was at first thought that Callahan would expire before the torrent of blood could be stayed. A country doctor who lived near was summoned, and succeeded by rude but effective bandages in lessening the flow of blood, but the wound in the arm was so deep and jagged and so much blood had been lost that it was evident the man could not survive. He is still near to death, but has a chance of recovery.

New Real Estate Company Formed.

WILL DO GOOD BUSINESS AS ALL
FOUR MEMBERS ARE HUST-LERS.

The Capital Real Estate Company, with four popular men as members, has been formed and expects to do a good business in real estate in this city.

The members are J. W. Standberry, Ed. Porter Thompson, Fred G. Leonard, George B. Caywood. Mr. Standberry is a newcomer in Frankfort, but has had long experience in real estate, and will be the active head. Mr. Leonard is a brother of Dr. Leonard and has concluded to cast his lot with the progressive city of Frankfort. Mr. Thompson and Mr. Caywood have lived here a number of years. Mr. Thompson was for several years clerk in the Adjutant General's office and assistant secretary to Governor Beckham. Mr. Caywood is the present secretary of the State Board of Control.

DEMOCRATS ALL WORK TOGETHER.

Franklin County Club Add
Many New Members.

Several Good Talks At The Weekly Meeting.

PARTY HARMONY THE KEYNOTE.

The Franklin County Democratic Club added many new members at the meeting on Monday night and much enthusiasm for the Democratic ticket was aroused. The whole tone of the speeches which were made was that the Democrats of Franklin county are going to get together again and will pile up a big majority for the Democratic national ticket. Everybody was in a good humor and the club promises to be one of the largest in the State. Factional fights are to be forgotten and everybody is going to get together and work for the Democratic nominees.

President Brown suggested that the meeting be turned into an old-fashioned Democratic love feast.

A letter was read from Col. Thom. W. Scott, at his home near Midway, regretting that on account of ill health he could not be present to speak, and thanking the club for the invitation. Harry Shaw was then called upon and made a rousing address to the Democrats. He said that he was a "Campbellite, Rebel soldier and a Democrat," and had no apology to offer for any of them. He said that he had voted twice for Bryan and never voted anything but the Democratic ticket in his life, and had never changed his allegiance to the old party, no matter what might have been the conditions. He thought this a good time to rally to the party to win a great victory in the State and Nation this year.

County Attorney Frank Dalley was called upon and responded with a few happy remarks. He said that he wanted to compliment Mr. Shaw that he had always stood for Democracy. He said he could not understand how a Confederate who had seen what Mr. Shaw had seen and endured what he had could ever go astray from Democracy. He urged the club members all to stand together for the principles and never to desert the nominees of the party.

County Judge Polsgrove, who was sitting in the crowd, was loudly called for, and responded with some food for thought for the club members.

Circuit Clerk Ben Marshall was called upon, after Judge Polsgrove had concluded. He said that the time had never yet come when he wasn't willing to give his time, energy and money to the cause of Democracy. He said that he wanted all Democrats to get together and was willing "for any man who voted or didn't vote to come back and be as prominent in this organization as he pleases. I say we need you, come home." He said that Kentucky is a Democratic State no one could look back at the majorities of the Governors of the olden times and not know that, but he declared that if conditions are to be prescribed what Democrats can come and what can not, the party would be mighty short of a majority when election time came around.

He said that he, too, wanted Democrats at the helm. But men at the helm who are honest, "not those who will rob me or you, but people who are for Democrats." He said that he had been a candidate before and may be again, and he didn't mind the best of it. He urged the organization was made in July or August, put in each precinct who for the success of the party.

John W. Ray, who spoke next, said that he didn't think that the province of the club to take part in matters within the party and he didn't know where the organization came in. He said that the club organized to carry out the plan in November the "other" will take care of themselves.

C. P. Chenault spoke next, saying that the club ought to be a party in the front, and he was a carded leader.

Secretary Benson F. F. said that the club had been.

After Mr. Farmer had concluded Mr. Coffey, of the Forks, spoke to his sterling brand of Democracy, and a large number of new members joined the club before adjourning.

NATIONAL FOREST

All Reservations West of Mississippi
River Proposed Eastern Areas.

Here are some facts regarding forest preservation in the United States.

In area the national reservations west of the Mississippi river cover 238,170 square miles, or 149,869,000 acres.

There is being spent in the western States $40,000,000 for reclamation, and $5,000,000 is needed at once for the Eastern States.

Proposed Eastern forest reservation include 660,000 acres, or 1,030 square miles, in the White Mountains, and 5,000,000 acres, or 17,800 square miles, in the Southern Appalachians.

In 1907 President Roosevelt added 17,000,000 acres to the Western forests, and a bill is pending in Congress to provide for the two national forest areas in the Eastern mountains, with a preliminary appropriation of $5,000,000.

In his message to Congress President Roosevelt said: "We should acquire in the Southern Appalachian and White Mountain regions all the forest land that is possible for the use of the nation. These lands, because they form a national asset, are as emphatically national as the rivers which they feed and which flow through so many States before they reach the ocean."

Upon the subject of forest preservation generally President Roosevelt said:

"Shall we continue the waste and destruction of our national resources or shall we conserve them? There is no other question of equal gravity before the nation."

CROPS ALL LATE.

Rains Put Farmers Behind
With Work.

LITTLE PLOWING AND PRACTI-CALLY NO SEEDING DONE
AS YET.

Farmers are away behind with their work according to the monthly crop report which has been issued by Commissioner of Agriculture Rankin and practically no seeding has been done.

The weather during the month of April has been exceedingly damp and rainy with but little sunshine. Farmers have not in years been so far behind with their work. Little plowing and practically no seeding has been done.

"Oats that were planted early are growing rapidly, but much land intended for oats has been sowed on account of not being plowed. Rye, barley and wheat look fine and are very green. The snow that fell on April 29 added greatly to the growth of these cereals."

"Alfalfa shows a splendid growth and the rain has assisted the roots in getting a deep setting. An increased acreage all over the State is shown in alfalfa and many inquiries have been received for bulletins on this hay, indicating that much interest is being taken in the introduction of this plant in Kentucky."

"Corn will be planted late on account of such a heavy rainfall, but an increased acreage will be planted. Much attention has been given to the selection of seed corn, as a result of the rapid growth of the farmers' institutes in the State, and the campaign of education that it now being

VETERAN PRINTER

Died in Lexington Hospital
After Long Illness.

CORNELIUS McAULIFFE, WELL KNOWN IN FRANKFORT—
FAST COMPOSITOR.

Cornelius McAuliffe, a veteran printer, who was well known in Frankfort, died Sunday morning in the Lexington hospital after a long illness. He was connected with the newspaper business as a type setter and was one of the fastest and best hand compositors in the South in the days when everything was set by hand and the machine had not come into general use. Mr. McAuliffe was noted for the fact that he never said an unkind word against anybody and always saw the best that was in every person.

His mother, Mrs. Katherine McAuliffe, who lives with her daughter, Mrs. Albert J. Tweedy, on North Broadway, Lexington, survives him. He leaves a brother, James McAuliffe, of Frankfort, and four sisters, Mrs. Charles Weltzel, of Frankfort; Mrs. William Molloy, of Louisville; Mrs. John Weltzel, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Albert J. Tweedy, of Lexington.

The body was brought to Frankfort Monday morning where the funeral services were held at the Church of the Good Shepherd. The services were conducted by Rev. Father Major. The interment was in the family lot in the Catholic cemetery.

MEN IN JEANS

Cheer Woman Champion Of Tobacco Growers.

FARMERS HOLD BIG RALLY AT AUGUSTA AND HEAR ABLE ADDRESSES.

The big Equity rally extensively advertised over northeastern Kentucky and Southern Ohio was held at Augusta, Wednesday. At least 7,500 strangers were there, more than 1,000 coming from Ohio, Mason, Fleming, Robertson and Pendleton counties were largely represented. Miss Alice Lloyd was the main attraction, and 3,000 people stood out in the rain more than an hour waiting for her to make her appearance.

Miss Lloyd only spoke a few minutes but made some telling arguments, and the "men in brown jeans" clearly demonstrated that they were with her on all points. The Hon. J. Campbell Cantrill, of Georgetown, former Congressman J. N. Kehoe, of Maysville, and N. S. Wiles, a banker, of Ripley, O., also made addresses.

Equity farmers to the number of 2,000 formed a parade at 10 o'clock, headed by the Augusta band, followed by fourteen unions of the American Society of Equity, the horses and riders being decorated with tobacco. Each union was headed by a bevy of women riding on horseback, followed by an Equity string band with cartoons of Gov. Willson and the American Tobacco Company. The parade was more than a mile long.

conducted among the farmers. It is predicted that this will be a banner year for corn in Kentucky.

"All garden and truck patches are late. More potatoes and tomatoes will be grown in Kentucky than ever before, for new canneries are being established in many of the counties throughout the State."

"Scarcely any tobacco will be raised in the burley district because of the 'No Crop' sentiment which prevails among the independent growers as well as the members of the Society of Equity."

"In the Dark District an average crop will be grown and the Growers' Associations are securing the larger per cent. of the prospective acreage."

"The demand for poultry and dairy products is steadily increasing. The indications point to a prosperous spring for the tillers of the soil notwithstanding that there is uneasiness displayed in some of the counties of the tobacco districts the peace and prosperity of Kentucky and the best of neighborly feeling prevails. Many of the reports circulated are without foundation, and in some cases are facts are not given out, but on the whole conditions are encouraging."

TAFT MEN RUN THE CONVENTION.

L. L. Bristow Nominated For Congress.

Seventh District Republicans
Name Candidate

REYNOLDS FOR STATE COMMITTEE.

Fairbanks Republicans laid down here in the Seventh district convention and let the Taft machine run over them, and they did not even lift their voices in protest. L. L. Bristow, of Scott county, was nominated for Congress and the convention was all over in about two hours. The Fairbanks men had the delegations from three counties, and they put up Frank L. Calvert. He received 43 votes to 83 for Bristow. The resolution indorsed the administrations of Roosevelt and Gov. Willson and urged the pardoning of Powers and Howard. This was the only thing which stirred any life into the gathering, as the delegates yelled and shouted approval of this sentiment.

C. O. Reynolds, of Lexington, was elected a member of the State Central Committee from this district. C. C. Patrick, of Lexington, voted against the resolutions, and was the only one to protest against the proceedings.

The convention was not largely attended, as it was understood there would be no fight and everything would be cut and dried. A band played things up to some extent, but everybody was thinking about the big show to come off tomorrow. This was merely a sideshow. The House chamber, where the convention was held, was cold and damp and undecorated except for the standards which marked the location of the county delegations.

The convention was called to order at 1:15 by Robert McMichael, the district chairman. The purpose of the convention then was stated by George Barnes, the secretary. The credentials were presented and it was found that there were no contests.

John T. Shelby was nominated for temporary chairman and the nomination was made by acclamation. Chas. Kerr, of Lexington, made the nominating speech. The temporary organization was made permanent. Charles Parrish, of Woodford, announced that the Taft men had withdrawn the contest in Woodford county. The Credentials Committee was dispensed with, as there were no contests. The following committees were appointed:

Resolutions—Sam J. Roberts, Fayette; H. Clay Howard, Bourbon; L. F. Sinclair, Scott; Victor Lindsey, Henry; Richard Morris, Franklin; M. F. Moore, Woodford; J. B. Hutchison, Owen; W. J. Manby, Oldham.

Rules and Order—H. H. Barnes, Fayette; George Stuart, Bourbon; L. C. Lutes, Scott; Dr. Alfred Wainwright, Henry; J. W. Milam, Franklin; W. E. Watts, Woodford; J. M. Minniss, Owen; Russell Carr, Oldham.

Sam J. Roberts, for the Resolutions Committee, reported resolutions indorsing Roosevelt and Willson and Taft and declaring in favor of the Pardon of Powers and Howard. The latter was greeted with applause. The majority of the committee instructed the delegates to vote for Taft. The minority was for Fairbanks.

I. L. Bristow and Frank N. Calvert were put in nomination for Congress. Calvert received the votes of Henry, Woodford and Bourbon. The counties voting for Calvert were for Fairbanks, and Bristow, who was the Taft candidate, received all the other counties. The vote was: Bristow 83, Calvert 43. Bristow was declared nominated.

Charles H. Kerr, of Lexington, and George L. Barnes, of Frankfort, were elected delegates to the National Convention. Both are Taft men. Miles Williams, of Henry, and Dr. German Miller, of Fayette, were elected alternates. Two negroes were put in nomination, but declined.

Ohio Democrats

Nominate Harmon.

In a tumultuous convention, characterized by the most intense factional feeling, the Democrats of Ohio nominated Judson Harmon, of Cincinnati, former Attorney General of the United States under President Cleveland, for Governor, indorsed William Jennings Bryan and instructed the delegates-at-large to the National Convention to vote for him for President.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce J. CAMPBELL CANTRILL, of Scott county, as a candidate for Congress, subject to the Democratic convention, September 3.

We are authorized to announce W. P. KIMBALL, of Fayette county, as a candidate for re-election to Congress from the 7th Congressional District, subject to the action of the Democratic Convention, September 3.

What would you do if you should walk into your office and find a large and especially fat steer, calmly and placidly occupying the choice location in that office?

A man in Frankfort had that experience, not long since. It was county court day, the streets were converted, for the time being, into stock yards. The steer grew weary of standing in the street, where it might have been muddy, and walked into the office on St. Clear street. Such a thing can happen at any time, where cows and horses and sheep are scattered about the street, frequently untended. Frankfort is not the loveliest place in the world on county court day. The main streets of the city are filled with cattle and horses and several auctioneers are doing or trying to do, a lively business. The sidewalks are crowded with men attending the sales or merely looking on, so that it is impossible for any one to pass without walking in the street.

All this is right and proper and shows that the city is doing business, but the location is bad. There is no reason to turn over the principal streets to the stock traders, once each month. It would be vastly better both for the seller and for the buyer if the sales of all stock could be held in pens, owned by the city and used for sales purposes. If the man who wanted to buy cattle knew that he could go to a certain place and find what cattle were for sale on the market that day it would be better for him and for the man who wanted to sell. Frankfort wants and needs the farmers and stock raisers and wants them to come to Frankfort with their stock, but it would be to their advantage to have stock yards where their stock could be driven and sold.

The merchants of the city would profit by the stock pens. No woman goes down town on county court day, unless she must do it, for she does not care to have to fight her way through a crowd of men and cattle. She stays at home and the merchant does not do as big a business as on other days. Last Monday an argument over tobacco, between two men, attracted the attention of several others and then some more and a few others besides that crowd, until the street was completely blocked. This kept up for three hours and it was impossible for any one to pass without going into the street, which was very muddy.

The city council should make provision for stock pens and pass an ordinance requiring all stock trading to be done at those pens. There would be some kicking at first, but after it was tried everybody would find it best. Smaller towns than Frankfort have such laws and no trade has been driven away to other towns. The farmers and traders themselves like the arrangement better, after they have tried it.

"As ye sow, that shall ye also reap." James Hargis was shot and killed by his own son and Ed Callahan, his chief lieutenant in the bloody history of Breathitt county, meets his fate at the hands of a close relative and confederate. The end of both was logical. They sowed blood and reaped death.

The Optimist.

By A. R. D.

The man who started the report that the circus would not come to Frankfort ought to have been shot, drawn and quartered and then something done with the pieces. Some joker is in the habit of working this sort of a joke whenever there is a circus and thinks it is funny to fool the children. If his memory could go back to the time he was young and the circus posters were flaming and he had been watching for that circus, counting the hours until its arrival and some one had taken all the interest out of life by telling him the circus had cancelled its date, he would recall how he felt over the misinformation. Then the jokes about the circus would stop.

This week, on Monday a report was started that the circus had decided to leave Frankfort in the lurch and not show here. It was a fake story but it's a cinch that it was started by some smart man who was playing on the emotions of some child. He thought it was funny to see that child go off with woe-begone face, feeling that life had ceased to be worth living. It wasn't funny to the child. Besides the child would discover after a bit that it was not true and then all statements made by the persons in question were doubted forever. How many little hearts grew sad Monday when they heard that the circus was not coming. Frankfort beats the world for spreading reports with rapidity. Everybody in Frankfort knows any item of news in ten minutes after it has originated. There seems to be some sort of wireless method of spreading the information for it jumps across the river and into South Frankfort like lightning. This circus information spread itself over the city in a hurry and it grew from the original fib to a detailed and official announcement that on account of the high license and the high price charged for the lot the circus would not come at all.

To a child a circus is a serious matter. The coming or going of a circus is not a casual thing, to be discussed idly. Circusses don't come often and the average child looks forward to a circus like it was the real big event of the year. Over at the public school Monday the report about no circus was generally circulated and many a child went home deeply disappointed. Grown people seem to think they have a right to play such jokes. They keep the children in a state of uncertainty all the time. First it is that the circus will not come. When the circus actually has arrived and can be seen with the eyes, then it is stated that there will be no parade. This throws a damper on the spirits of the child, but this is shown to be false and after that the child is hardened and believes nothing about the circus. That child just knows they are all lying.

The Optimist has a friend who has a child who is about the smartest ever, and says more things that really are good than one can find in several numbers of Puck. This youngster, who is only seven years old, saw the cornerstone of the new capitol laid, and was much impressed by the ceremonies. Several days afterwards she fell down and struck heavily on her side. She got up and looking at her father seriously, said: "Papa, I believe I have broken my corner-stone."

The boys around the office have a good story on the Optimist and say that he should put it in the paper. Just to show that the Optimist really has a sense of humor and can see a joke on himself, he is going to do it. The Optimist came to be editor of this paper a couple of weeks ago and needed paste. Paste is essential in getting out any kind of a paper, be it a weekly or a daily. Being told that there was plenty of paste already mixed, on the third floor, the Optimist went up on a search for it. He found a gummy, brown stuff, in a big bucket. It looked like queer paste but it did look like paste and certainly was sticky. So the Optimist scooped up some of it, into a cup and started in to get it thinned down so it could be used. He turned in some water from the hydrant, got a stick and began stirring up the stuff. It stirred but the water did not seem to get into the stuff, and it certainly did not get thinner. After stirring for some time the Optimist called in assistance. The others stirring. The new Optimist, as nothing happened, the Optimist's arm got tired and an hour of this. Finally the Optimist the bindery showed up. He took the stuff and laughed. He said: "That's not paste. That's glue. It's for belts to keep the wheels from the wheels."

The Optimist then went to the bindery and bought some real paste that was paste.

That man out there who is dry by this time if he is not about his correct mind, is not the only one of supply in Frankfort. A Frankfort man saw a friend of his out west, who lives in a territory, a bottle of very good whisky. He did not get the whisky. It was several months ago. The Frankfort man argued and fooled the express company and tried to get the whisky. All efforts were in vain, so he filed suit against the express company in the magistrate's court. The express company very promptly settled, paying the cost of the whisky and the express charges. The Frankfort man immediately bought another bottle of whisky and shipped that to his friend out west. That bottle also went astray and another suit was filed against the express company. They again settled promptly and a third bottle was purchased and started on its way west. This disappeared in the same mysterious way, and another suit produced more money from the express company. A fourth bottle went west, presumably, but has never been received, and the next step will be another suit.

The Frankfort man has now been trying for three months to send his friend some whisky. He has started four bottles to him but the western man is still without the whisky. The question is who gets the whisky and who loses by the transactions. Clearly the man out west is the loser, for he does not get his whisky, and if he has been waiting all this time for a drink he must be as dry as the Sahara desert. The Frankfort man is not the loser, for he has been paid for the whisky each time that the bottle has been lost. The express company is also a loser for it has paid for three bottles, and may have to pay for another one. Somebody has been having a lovely time with the whisky, but who it is has not been determined.

TO HANDLE CROPS.

Arrangements Made By Association In Owen County.

$150,000 TO BE AVAILABLE IN ADVANCE TO GROWERS WHOSE TOBACCO IS SHIPPED.

News comes from Owenton that the Owen county board of control has announced that complete arrangements have been made for the handling and financing of the 1907 tobacco crop. Final arrangements have been made with the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Company, and as much as $150,000 will be available for advancement to growers. These advancements will not be made till the tobacco is shipped to Louisville. This precaution is made necessary because of difficulties in securing adequate fire insurance in Owenton. All necessary insurance can be had in Louisville, and at half the cost the growers would be compelled to pay at that place.

Pooling-houses will be opened in different parts of Owen county on May 15, and all tobaccos received in keeping order will be prized as rapidly as possible and sent to Louisville, when advancements may be had and distributed to those who deliver their tobacco.

By May 15 great quantities of tobacco will be in keeping condition, and as there will be several pooling-houses and some considerable neighborhood handling, hundreds of hogheads can be sent out every week and the money sent to Owenton for distribution.

BRADLEY RUN OVER.

Rep. As Delegate To National Convention.

REPUBLICANS FINISH WORK OF STATE GATHERING AND ADJOURN.

DELEGATES-AT-LARGE: Gov. Augustus E. Willis, of Kentucky; A. R. Burnam, of Marshall County; Ward Lane, of county.

ALTERNATES: Roy Willholte, of Boyd county; Roy Yarberry, of Adair county; Will P. Scott, of Hopkins county; J. H. McWhirter, colored of Louisville.

ELECTORS-AT-LARGE: John H. Gilliam, of Allen county; J. C. McCoy, of Marion county. COMMITTEEMEN-AT-LARGE: Frank Fisher, of McCracken county; George W. Welsh, of Boyle county.

The new Republican Federal-made machine in Kentucky was given its first formal tryout at the Republican State Convention at Louisville. It worked. Senator-elect W. O. Bradley, the leader of Republicans in the State for forty years, was run over and mashed out. Marshall Bullitt, an "undried" Republican, was given a front seat. In a convention that had been organized against him, and consequently against what proved to be unsurmountable odds, Gov. Bradley made a splendid fight.

The friends of Mr. Bradley say it would have been a winning fight but for what they call "the treachery of Judge Burnam's friends." They say promises were made on behalf of Judge Burnam Wednesday night that Judge Burnam would be for Gov. Bradley, and, relying upon this promise, Gov. Bradley's friends threw 600 votes to Burnam. It is also understood that Gov. Bradley was not credited with all his votes when they were withdrawn from Burnam. Judge Burnam denies vigorously that there was any agreement or understanding between him and Mr. Bradley's friends.

Talk Of Indicting Governor Willson.

JUDGE STOUT TELLS GRAND JURY TO INVESTIGATE SENDING OF SOLDIERS.

The Scott county grand jury is investigating by what authority troops were sent to that county, and several of the men in the militia have appeared before the jury to testify. Judge Robert Stout, in his instructions to the jury said that the Governor had no right to send troops into any county except on the request of the County Judge, Sheriff or Circuit Judge. He directed the grand jury to investigate whether or not the soldiers had been sent to Scott county for the purpose of intimidating any citizens, and if they found that the soldiers were there to intimidate anybody indictments could be returned against any State official who was in the plot to intimidate.

There is talk here that an indictment is to be returned against Gov. Willson and Adj. Gen. Johnston, charging conspiracy to intimidate. The people of this and surrounding counties are objecting vigorously to troops being sent into their counties and the growers are up in arms.

AMONG THE SICK.

Miss Florence Caplinger formerly of this city, but now making her home in Louisville, has been critically ill for a week past, was yesterday said to be slightly improved.

Mr. John E. Miles who has been so seriously ill at the home of his daughter Mrs. Guy N. Emmett, was last night reported as being slightly improved but still quite weak.

Mr. J. Paul Swain, General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Frankfort, who has been confined to his room on west Main street, for ten days past, with a severe attack of the grip, was able to be out during the week.

Judge Wm. L. Jett who has been suffering for the past ten days with a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism, is much improved and able to be at his office in the Confederate Record Department.

The many friends in Frankfort of Mrs. A. R. Burnam, of Richmond, will regret to learn that she is suffering with a severe attack of rheumatism and has been removed to Martinsville, Ind., for treatment.

Mr. J. H. Lindsey, a brother of Mrs. Henry T. Stanton, and who has formerly lived in this city, when a number of years he was clerk in the Auditor's office, is quite ill at his home in Jackson, Tenn.

Mr. Louis H. Fennell, who some three weeks since underwent quite a serious operation at the Norton Memorial Infirmary in Louisville, was able to return home Sunday night last, very much improved in health.

Mr. Jas. Tobin who with a party of friends were fishing at Lock 4 below this city, was so unfortunate as to fall from the lock wall and break his left arm. He was removed to his home on Main street where the broken member was set and yesterday he was able to be on the street again.

Mr. Joseph H. Watson, the freight conductor on the Kentucky Highlands Railway, was so unfortunate as to have two fingers on his right hand badly mashed by being caught in a freight car door. Dr. Goodrich dressed the injured fingers which were doing nicely last night.

NIGHT RIDERS SURRENDER.

Thirty-eight men, charged with night riding, surrendered and gave bond at Eddyville.

FOR SALE TWO FRANKLIN CO. FARMS.

One known as Joseph Clarke Homestead, located one mile from Frankfort, near the Shelbyville pike. Contains about 115 acres, including a virgin forest of red cedar trees, a main house, a tenant house, large cow barn, etc. Now used as a dairy and garden farm. Inexhaustible supply of water.

No. 2. Known as Sugar Grove or Clarke, deceased. Located immediately on the Shelbyville pike, one mile from Frankfort. This place contains about 85 acres, on which there is a virgin forest of sugar maple and walnut trees. This is the best location about Frankfort for subdivision into suburban lots.

I am offering these farms at $100 per acre, subject to tenants lease to November 1st, 1908. Possession of Main House and yard at once.

USE ELEPHANTS

To Get Big Wagons Out Of The Mud.

Circus Has Hard Time On Account Weather.

Tent Almost Blows Down At Night Performance.

IMMENSE CROWD SEES GOOD SHOW.

Think of having wet feet twice a day for two weeks and wading through mud and rain every day and every night for two weeks. Not a pleasant thing to think about, but that is what the show people who were with John Robinson's circus here Wednesday have had ever since they left the winter quarters in Cincinnati two weeks ago. It has been mud and water all the time. Wagons stuck, wet canvas was too heavy to be handled without a large force of hands, and everything was running with water. It is bad enough to have to put up and take down a big tent and move all that plunder every day, but to have to do when it is pouring in torrents and when the ground is so soft that the wagons stick, ankle deep, in the mire, where the elephants, even, are unable to shove them loose, is the limit. Just mention the weather to a man connected with the circus and he will give a choice and select line of swear words that will be a good example of what the circus man, when he is an old hand, can do when he tries.

But Frankfort did not mind the weather. Frankfort had not seen a circus in several years and was circus mad. All the country around about was also thirsting for a circus and the country population began moving toward Frankfort about daylight Wednesday morning. They came in all sorts of conveyances, by rail and on the interurban, and they overran Frankfort all day. Nobody talked about anything else, and the man who did not get enthused was simply a fossil. The streets were crowded with men and children and women and they all acted as each usually acts. The men were talking shop and appearing to be careless about whether the parade came or not, but the women were different. They were interested because they wanted to get home and get through dinner in time to take the children to the show. The children were keyed up to great excitement and the women were kept busy hauling the children out from under the wheels of wagons and horses' hoofs. The man with the balloons appeared early and did a thriving business. It was a typical circus day crowd. Everybody was out for a good time and was praying it would not rain. There were optimists and pessimists present. The latter announced with chuckles that it certainly would rain, and that, anyhow, the parade would not be given as the circus had come in too late and was behind with everything. The optimists smiled and predicted good weather. The pessimists seemed to have the turn on the parade part of their predictions, as the parade was slow getting under way. Nobody knew when it was going and everybody asked and hung around some convenient corner. Nobody ever did know how the parade would go when it arrived, and many missed it entirely, although there was a rush for the streets along which the circus passed that almost swept away telephone poles. The parade moved along a few streets, along about noon, and then everybody piled out to the show grounds.

On account of the mud the location of the lot was changed twice as the heavy wagons could not be placed. Finally a lot was selected, out on the Leestown road. The circus people had their troubles. Once the big ticket wagon stuck, the wheels going axle deep into the ground. The four mules which were pulling it could not budge the thing.

"Hey, Bill, send out one of those elephants, will you?"

Bill produced an elephant, which strolled over in a casual sort of way, much to the terror of the mules, which looked big eyed and amazed at the huge bulk appearing before them, put his head against the rear of the wagon, gave a puff that put new life and vigor into the mules and the wagon was shifted forward several feet. This was repeated several times and the wagon was finally located properly. Then the elephant, called Jake, strolled back into the tent with an air which said: "That was easy—for me." The tents finally were put up, in the mysteriously rapid way circus tents are put up, and at 1 o'clock it began to fill up with people. They streamed inside the tent until 2:30 and then some 300 were unable to get in and had to go back home. Everything was full of people. Reserved seats and bleachers, alike, were full and finally the overflow was seated on straw and hay which was thrown down on the ground to keep out of the wet. The circus was about the same as other circuses and was lacking in novelty. The performers showed that they had just started out and were green in some of their acts. The misses were made before the performances were performed. No new, done on the trapeze and the same old circus, no really new acts being given. The weather was something to do with this, as it is difficult to do somersaults on a horse when one's feet were slippery with mud. There was no "thriller" as the death-defying acts are called, and none of the work in the air was other than one sees all the time, it being neither difficult nor dangerous.

But the show had two lion cubs that were about the cutest things ever and they were worth the price of admission. The cubs were only two months old, being born in winter quarters in Cincinnati. They were about the size of collie puppies the same age and were playful all the time. The mother was affectionate and watched them with a real mother's care and attention. She was a splendid specimen. In fact all the animals were good and were in the best possible condition after spending the winter in large cages in one place instead of being dragged about over the country in small boxes. There were many lions and leopards and all were fine, clean looking brutes. The menagerie tent was the best part of the show.

Rain, which fell in torrents, spoiled the night performance and kept away a great many persons who would have gone if the weather had been in good condition.

There was almost a panic just after the performance began when a wind and rain storm hit the big tent. A part of the animal tent blew down and the crowd thought that the main tent was coming down, too. There was a small stampede but the band kept on playing and this tended to allay the fears of the crowd. The elephants were performing in the ring and the crowd feared that one of the big beasts would stampede. One elephant did wander off and caused wild reports to be circulated over the country that the strange beast was patrolling the roads.

J. D. Sallee, who managed the street car service for his company, did what he could to get the people to the show grounds and considering the number of cars he had at his command he did great work. He had eight extra cars brought from Lexington and for the first time Frankfort people were able to ride to and from the circus. The cars were run on as rapid a schedule as could be maintained, and some 3,000 persons were carried during the afternoon. The crowds maintained good order during the day and not an arrest was made by the police. The usual gamblers were missing and one did not see a shell game about the grounds.

After half an hour's performance at night, when it was announced that it was too dangerous to attempt to continue the show on account of the storm, the circus packed up and went to Paris, where it showed on Thursday.

Troops Prepare To Resist Attack.

WARNING THAT THE NIGHT RIDERS WOULD ATTACK—BIG BARN BURNED.

The troops which are quartered in this section were awakened in the middle of the night recently and told that the night riders were going to get them. The soldiers immediately roused up and prepared to fight, but the riders did not come. The soldiers are taken from the best company of marksmen in the State Guard service. They are ready and willing for a scrap, and the captain of the company, who was a caller at the Governor's office Monday, said that he and his men would like nothing better than a fight but they had never gotten in touch with the riders yet.

A barn belonging to James Stoecken, who lives in this county, in the Benson neighborhood, was burned Sunday night, together with 6,000 pounds of tobacco. The origin of the fire is not known, but all kinds of wild stories were floating around, and it was thought by some that night riders had started the blaze. It is probable, however, that the barn was set on fire by lightning.

MUST DELIVER

Liquor Shipped Into Lexington Option Districts.

INTER-STATE COMMERCE DECISION FORCES L. & N. TO VIOLATE LATE LAW.

The order of the Federal Court in the Louisville and Nashville case, which ordering the railroad to deliver beer from the Cook Brewing Company, of Evansville, Ind., to Lexington, Ky., for destinations on its territory, will, in the next few days in the issuance of an order to freight agents canceling a prohibitive instruction against receiving for shipment liquor consignments for prohibition towns. The order that no more shipments of liquor or beer were to be received for dry towns was issued by the Louisville and Nashville October 31, 1907.

Following instructions, the Louisville and Nashville agent at Evansville refused a shipment of beer from the Cook Brewing Company a few months ago. The company carried the case into the Federal Courts in Indianapolis, and a decision handed down within the last few weeks orders the Louisville and Nashville to receive all consignments to all points offered to them by the Cook Brewing Company. The Louisville and Nashville took its stand in regard to the non-shipment of liquor into dry towns on the ground that by so doing it would be violating the anti-saloon laws in the community where the shipment was landed.

The order of the Federal Court places the Louisville and Nashville in a peculiar position. They are compelled to accept the tendered shipments of the brewing company, and by so doing they lay themselves liable to a fine for delivering it. The road had no moral scruples against hauling liquor into dry places, but does not care to make itself liable under laws of the prohibition towns for the delivery of the shipments. The legal point involved is a pretty one.

Already several other liquor and brewery companies are said to be threatening suit against the road in the Federal Courts unless it accepts shipments. The suits will be based on the Indianapolis order.

The legal advice on the point seems to indicate that the Federal law will stand above the State laws, and for this reason the order seems to be near at hand. The Louisville and Nashville has been practically ordered to break the laws of the prohibition towns by the decision of the Federal Court. The court based its decision on the grounds that there was no law to prohibit the selling of beer in Evansville, and that the Louisville and Nashville must therefore accept interstate shipments. The road may be forced to ask for an injunction from the Federal Court in the event that an attempt is made by local-dry-town authorities to drag it into court for delivering whisky shipments which it had been ordered to accept.

Frankfort Man Has Seen All But One Derby.

M. H. P. WILLIAMS IN LOUISVILLE TUESDAY — HALE AND HEARTY AT 89.

M. H. P. Williams, who has never missed but one Kentucky Derby, since that classic event was established, was in Louisville Tuesday and saw the Derby run under the old-time system of betting. Mr. Williams is 89 years old, but he can not miss a Derby, and no matter how bad the weather or what the conditions, he always goes to Louisville for the opening of the spring meet there. He has seen every Derby but one. On that occasion he was ill and his physician would not allow him to venture out so he had to stay in Frankfort and miss the Derby. With that exception he has always been there when the bugle called the horses to the post, and he has nearly always picked the winner. He has seen the Derby run in mud, on a cuppy track, on a fast track, and, in fact, under almost all kind of conditions. He said the conditions Tuesday were about as bad as he had ever seen them.

Many men from Frankfort went to Louisville Tuesday to see the Derby. The announcement that there would be no betting had rather thrown a damper on the spirits of the Frankfort race followers and many, who usually go to the Derby, had decided to stay away this year. The news of the granting of an injunction to

NO DECISION

In Powers and Howard Cases
For Three Weeks.

Governor Goes East Without Passing On Pardons.

Full Record Will Be Read
Before He Acts.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE AT WASHINGTON

Caleb Powers and James Howard will have to stay in prison for three weeks longer at the very least, as Gov. Willson has gone to Philadelphia and Washington, and before going announced that he would not pass on the applications for pardons for the two men until after his return. He went to Louisville on the afternoon C. & O. train Thursday, surprising everybody in Frankfort very much. He left Louisville yesterday morning for Philadelphia in time to be in at the finish of the meeting of the associated Harvard Clubs. He then goes to Washington to attend the conference of governors of the various states, which begins there Monday. The Governor expects to return to Frankfort on May 17, and it will be at least a week after that time before he will pass on the cases. The Governor has been working hard on the records of the two cases and found that he would not be able to complete the full and proper consideration of the cases which he believes they deserve, without staying here several days longer, so he decided to go to Washington. Gov. Willson took with him many records in the two cases, and will spend his time on the trains reading and working on the evidence. After the Governor left for Louisville his secretary, McKensie Todd, gave out a statement from the Governor. Governor Willson's statement is as follows:

"I cannot possibly help the delay. The mass of petitions and requests in these cases was not presented to me until the hearing, which took nearly a week, and when that was over, while the very able and interesting arguments had probably brought before me the main features, I was not willing to decide the cases without reading the records myself, because the responsibility will rest upon me and cannot be put off on the statements of the lawyers.

"It took a few days to clear off the work which had accumulated during the hearing, and I then began to read the records, giving all the time I could to them night and day, and in order to hurry the work, I gave the Howard record to Attorney General Breathitt, and he has been reading that record, but has been unable to do anything with it in the day time on account of the pressure of the daily work in the office, but has worked on it at night very faithfully, and to-day I sent for the record to try to finish it myself, but I found it would be wholly impossible, and that it will be better to have the Attorney General complete the report on the Howard record, and this cannot be done before I must start for the conference of governors at the White House.

"I have read ten volumes and part of the eleventh volume of the record of the last Powers trial, and the whole record of the Youtsey case, the three opinions of the Court of Appeals in the Powers case, and three opinions in the Howard case. I have also read a good many briefs, arguments and petitions in the matter, and have a good many more of those yet to read. In all several thousand pages, giving most of every day and every night, and let most of the usual work of my office go, doing my best to finish these cases before going east, as I said I would do before starting east, and I had made up my mind to give up the meeting of the Associated Harvard Clubs, at Philadelphia, May 8th and 9th, which I was most anxious to attend on account of the kindness of that Association to me and the host of intimate nearly life long friends, who belong to it and will be at the reunion; but it is plain to-day that I cannot possibly finish this work as it ought to be done before I must go to Washington, and I most unwillingly give up to-day that effort.

"I did not intend, in any event, to decide those cases before the end of the Republican Convention, because I am not willing that my decision, either the one way or the other, should be in any way affected by any political or party consideration, and I was distressed at the announcement at the convention yesterday that the pardons had been granted, for there was no foundation whatever, no word of the kind authorized, and could not be because I had not finished the records; but it was a hardship on me, and I have asked for a searching investigation as to how it came to pass, and in view of this, I have been more willing to delay the final decision to have a clear separation of the cases from partisan or political matters.

Served Faithfully
For Eighty Years.

MARY BRISTOW WAS ALMOST LIKE MEMBER OF SWIGERT FAMILY.

After eighty years service with the Swigert family and its branches, Mary Bristow went to her reward Wednesday at the home of one of the children she had nursed in infancy, Mrs. Jalrus Moore, whose husband, an officer in the United States army, is stationed at a post near Newport, Rhode Island. The aged negro's body will be brought to Frankfort, probably Sunday, when the burial will be attended by the Swigert family and many of the older residents of Frankfort who knew Mary Bristow.

Mary was born in Frankfort and was the slave of Jacob Swigert. She was always a house servant and was treated almost like a member of the family. She nursed the various generations of the Swigert family and went from one to the other branch of it, nursing the babies and the sick. When Mrs. Moore, who was Miss Mary Hendrick Swigert, was married several months ago, she took Mary to Rhode Island with her. A telegram announcing the death of the faithful and devoted negro, was received in Frankfort Thursday.

NEW PLACE FOR GLENN.

Moses R. Glenn, who retired on May 1, as rate clerk of the Railroad Commission, has accepted a position with the Kentucky Law Reporter, published by the Frankfort Printing Co., and will travel for that publication. Mr. Glenn has a large number of friends and is well known over the State.

MAKE IT 250.

Business Men's Membership

PLANS WILL BE LAID
FOR THE ORGANIZATION OF CAPITAL
GET STATE

"Make It 250!" passed through the new Republican State Central Men's Club and the following is a list of the new members who have joined the club since the last meeting. The club discussed the matter of appropriate exercises on the occasion of the dedication of the new Capitol. A committee composed of B. W. Ebner, Mackenzie and F. D. Clark was appointed to make this subject up.

With a view of securing the State printing for Frankfort again, a committee composed of C. W. Bell, Gen. D. W. Lindsey and Judge J. H. Hazlett was appointed to meet with the Board of Printing Commissioners and request them—all other things being equal—to give the printing to Frankfort.

Seven new members were added to the roster last night, being Messrs. J. B. Utterback, C. W. Bell, W. H. Sneed, J. F. Montgomery, L. C. Rawlings and J. W. Bower.

Dr. Fish's new membership committee, which is going to work with might and main, is composed of the following: B. W. Ebner, Jesse Riddle, E. M. Wallace, F. G. Stagg, Jos. Oerther, E. W. Collins, C. N. Ward, H. A. Greter, O. B. Demarcie and S. M. Saudley.

Mrs. Trumbo Loses
Suit For Damages.

COURT OF APPEALS AFFIRMS
JUDGMENT OF FRANKLIN
CIRCUIT COURT.

The Court of Appeals yesterday affirmed the judgment of the Franklin Circuit Court in the case of Andrew Trumbo's administrator against W. A. Gaines & Co. Andrew Trumbo was killed while working in the distillery on May 5, 1905, and his mother brought suit against the company, alleging that the death resulted from negligence on the part of the company's employees. The jury in the lower court decided for the defendant and it was in this case that Col. James Andrew Scott, who represented the plaintiff, "roasted" the jury to such an extent that he was fined for contempt of court. The Court of Appeals holds that Mrs. Trumbo can not recover.

Kentucky Officials
Go To Richmond, Va.

WILL ATTEND NATIONAL CON-FERENCE OF CHARITIES AND CORRECTIONS.

Dr. Milton Board and Stanley Milward, of the State Board of Control, have gone to Richmond, Virginia, to attend a meeting of the National Conference of Charities and Correction, to which they had been appointed delegates by the Governor. They will remain in Richmond until Monday, and then go to Cincinnati to attend a meeting of the Medical and Psychological Society. Percy Italy and Col. Albert Scott will join the other members of the board at Cincinnati.

Frankfort Eagles
All Going to Paris.

WILL ESTABLISH NEW AERIE
THERE ON MONDAY—BIG TIME EXPECTED.

Frankfort Eagles are going to have a big time Monday when they will go to Paris to institute a new aerie in that city. Plans have been made to run a special train from here and about 250 Frankfort Eagles will go along to see that everything goes off right. Paris is making elaborate preparations to entertain the visitors from Frankfort, and they expect to enjoy their trip very much. The Frankfort aerie is one of the best in the State, and the men who belong to it take a great deal of interest in the work. The order is growing stronger all the time and is taking a high rank in the fraternal orders of the country. Frankfort is in the front rank.

Arrested On Charge
Of Willful Murder.

SISTER ACCUSES WILL DAVIS OF KILLING DANIEL DICKEY.

William Davis, aged forty-two years, was arrested Thursday afternoon on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Mollie Harrod, of Belle Point, accusing him of murdering her brother, Daniel Dickey, who was found dead, lying face down under the trestle at Dudley's crossing, May 20, 1906. He was thought to have fallen from the trestle and killed accidentally, as such was the verdict of the coroner, so that the arrest yesterday of Davis came as a big surprise to all persons who know him and knew the dead man. The body of Dickey was found in a pool of water two or three inches deep, and if he had not been killed in falling from the trestle he would have drowned.
